

Time Does Not Wait

By Vanessa Chesters

Her wish for them is they will live out their dreams, And that they dream big.

That their lives are not filled with
"Things"

That they embrace everything that life brings.

That they soar through life and learn to spread their wings.

Time does not wait...

She sits in her chair and reminisces
of time that has since passed,
She can't go back and wishes that those moments would last....

Life is so very short and oh so sweet. There are so many great memories.

Time does not wait....

She has to hold back, she wants them to reach for the sky....

She prays that they will have faith and the courage to soar and fly.

It is never too late.

Remember....Time does not wait....

The sun shines on her face.

Love and laughter surround her.

She needs to remove herself from the race,

And quickly change the moments that are within her embrace.

Time does not wait....

Tempted once again by riches or
"things",
She turns her focus inward anticipating what life brings.
She wakes up and believes,
Life is happening as it was meant to be.
She has everything she needs.
Time does not wait...
Through the years she has watched them grow,
She has loved them more than they will ever know.
She hopes in some small way,
She has passed on the lessons she learned throughout her days.
She knows oh too well that time
does not wait...
